The Peixoto Family Story

From the Azores of Portugal to the Pajaro Valley, Joseph Peixoto, a potato farmer from Faial, Portugal, moved his family to Watsonville, California in the early 1900's. Here he met a local girl, Louise Silva and together they raised nine children in their family home on Beach Road.

Joseph's son, Francis, became a skilled commercial fertilizer and chemical supplier for a majority of the farmers in the Pajaro Valley. Francis married a local girl, Sadie Howes and together they raised seven children. Their 6th child, Richard "Dick" took a special interest in farming and loved to ride with his dad from farm to farm to learn all he could about farming. While still in high school, Dick rented 40 acres in three different parcels in the Pajaro Valley to pursue his interest in farming.

Dick is now an organic vegetable farmer who owns Lakeside Organic Gardens, the largest family-owned and operated solely organic vegetable grower/shipper in the USA. Producing over 45 commodities, they are committed to being 100% organically grown in California.

Dick and his wife, Marisela, raised three children in the Pajaro Valley. Their son, Ricky, is a tractor operator for the family business. Their youngest daughter, Amanda, is married to local organic heirloom farmer, Hugo Castro, and has a lovely baby girl, Melia Heirloom. Amanda is working in accounting for her family's businesses. Ashley, the eldest daughter, started the California Grill with her father at the Freedom location, and has gone on to pursue other business ventures.

The California Grill and Bar features Dick Peixoto's locally-grown organic vegetables, other local farmer's fruit and vegetables, local meats, fresh locally sourced seafood, and healthy meal options. Both Lakeside Organic Gardens and the California Grill and Bar make it a priority to always "Perpetuate Pajaro Valley Pride!"
